His statement indicated that a later effort would be made to pass legislation for probationary entrance of foreigners.

POLICE PERMITS FOR AUTO USE

DUBLIN, Dec. 20.—Much resentment has been aroused among Irish motorists by the government's new order under which nobody is allowed to own or drive an automobile in Ireland unless he has obtained a permit from the police.

It is intended to prevent the use of automobiles as aids to crime. Permits will be given only to persons whose character and disposition the police are satisfied. Permits have already been refused on the ground that the applicants are not loyal. Before a permit is issued the applicant must furnish two photographs, and descriptions of himself and his car. The regulation applies to chauffeurs as strictly as to owners, and the drivers' and mechanics' union has threatened to go on strike if it is enforced.

Many Sinn Feiners and other persons refuse to apply for motor permits. Their cars will be liable to seizure. The police have power to enter any garage and the owner can be sentenced to imprisonment for possessing it. The order was provoked by the fact that Sinn Fein leaders for arms, and men who had attacked police barracks, have escaped capture by using fast cars and motorcycles. Traders in cars, and taxi cab owners say that the regulation will kill their business.

SIX STEEL SHIPS LAUNCHED THIS MORNING IN OAKLAND

The first ship to go "overboard" was the Salina, a 10,000 ton tanker, named after the city in Kansas as a reward for its subscription in the Victory loan. At ten minute intervals the Jane

The democratic members indicated they would oppose it.

Captain Sawyer, who succeeded in launching one of the ship's boats before she sank, was reported to have reached shore after a small boat containing ten men capsized late last night.

HOW ONE MAN DELIVERED DENVER FROM THE I. W. W.

The man who cleaned up Denver from the I. W. W. invasion arrived in Tonopah this morning in the person of Capt. Felix L. O'Neill, formerly chief of police of the gateway of the Rockies. The incident happened four years ago when word was received at police headquarters that a trainload of 400 wobblies was on the way from the southern end of the state with the avowed intention of making the citizens eat out of their hands. Chief O'Neill laid his plans. When notified that the invaders were about leaving Littleton, a station eleven miles from the Union depot, he had another special waiting loaded with 200 policemen armed and rarin' to go. The police train started for Littleton but at Petersburg, five miles before reaching Littleton, the wobbly train was met. The I. W. W. had been advised of the police action and pulled the brake cord and then scattered over the adjacent country. Chief O'Neill was not dismayed by the movement. Detraining his men he impressed over 200 automobiles which had assembled there to see the fun and began a round-up that eventuated in landing 460 wobblies in the Denver jail where they were given special attention and all the water they could drink with a dessert of one loaf of bread for every three prisoners. Two days of this treatment brought cries for clemency. The wobblies appointed a committee to demand release under penalty of going on a hunger strike. No concessions were granted and the prisoners began making themselves obnoxious, by smashing what jail furniture they could handle, screaming, yelling and acting like a lot of maddened animals caged in a menagerie. Then Chief O'Neill played another card. Laying a line of fire hose he turned the stream loose in the jail until the hoboes got the worst bath they ever dreamed. They begged for mercy but still maintained a hostile attitude, demanding that they be released in a body on promise to leave the city. The chief was too old a bird to be caught with a few grains of salt, so he sent the spokesmen back to jail and repeated his hose treatment. When he thought the bunch was properly subdued O'Neill called them out in twos and threes and shipped them out of town in the custody of trusted policemen who dumped them at widely separated points on the prairies of Kansas and Nebraska. That was the end of it. From that day to the present hour every I. W. W. touring the west has given Denver a wide berth.

WIFE HELD WITHOUT BAIL FOR TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—Superior Judge Ward today denied a motion by attorneys for Mrs. Alice Woodcock, charged with the murder of Edward Kelly, that she be released on bail following the acquittal last night of her husband, Edgar Woodcock, who fired the shot which ended Kelly's life. #### CONGRESS READY TO ADJOURN FOR THE HOLIDAYS

SLABS OF SILVER WORTH $11,750 A TON SHOWN

With a slab of almost solid silver cornering the big writing table in the Mizpah hotel, George Quigley and Charles W. Taylor entertained a few friends by demonstrating their satisfaction that the value of the ores was in the neighborhood of $8 a pound. An assay certificate gave the value at $11,750 per ton, which is something better than any of the highgrade that has been exhibited here recently. The display caused some surprise, since the fact that the pair had been instrumental in taking over an old properly fairly bristling with this kind of stuff had not become generally known. The mine is within sixty miles of Tonopah and has been operated and developed by one man during the past eight years, when he continued plodding away digging out chunks of almost solid silver and shipping them to market so as to make a handsome living with the white metal down around the 50 cent mark.

A company has been organized to take over the holding which includes eight claims in Jefferson canyon, five miles from Round Mountain. The company is known as the Silver Shield Mining company, officered as follows: Dr. J. L. McCarthy, of Goldfield, president; C. W. Taylor, vice president; George W. Quigley, secretary and treasurer, who form the directorate, with J. B. Witt and J. W. Hanson.

This company took over the property from John Seever two weeks ago and now has twenty-six sacks of ore at the mine that runs at the rate of a dollar a pound, which was taken out in the course of six days by one man. Mr. Seever by himself blocked out 200,000 tons of ore and modestly indicates one ledge 24 feet in width that averages $30 a ton, while a stack of sacked ore counting 85 packages, is known to carry an average of $1,000 a ton. The mine is well situated for economic treatment and development, as it is a tunnel proposition that has been opened on three levels all run on ledge matter and connected with raises extending upward for 100 feet, all in ore. The Silver Shield is a strong company that is already taking up the preliminaries of mill construction by having a chemical analysis of the ore made by one of the leading metallurgists of Tonopah who is famous for recommending accurate and efficient processes for extraction of values. The company has a force employed cleaning up preparatory to undertaking an aggressive campaign for development with a view to proving up its resources before launching the milling plant. There is abundance of water for a 100-stamp mill with plenty of wood and electric power within one mile of the mine. Among the leading stockholders are Charles W. Taylor and J. B. Witt who were associated in the famous Florence lease which saved the old Florence company from a receivership and gave the lenders over $125,000. This was known as the Witt-Brandon, Taylor and Mechanical lease, which was sold to the Florence Divide. The men identified with the Silver Shield are all practical mining men who have made a success of their ventures.

NIVLOC DISCLAIMS DESIRE FOR RECENT PUBLICITY

The Nivloc Mining company, operating in the Silver Peak district, is not desirous of pressing its property into the limelight at this stage of the game. He says the Nivloc owners are spending $125,000 with the object of demonstrating whether or not they have a mine. After they have arrived at results they will be willing to furnish the facts for the guidance of others conducting legitimate operations in the same district.
